National Librarian's Day & Inauguration of Newspaper Distribution

Date	:	12 th August, 2026
Venue	:	Library, Main Building
Organizing Unit/Agency	:	Knowledge Resource Centre, Nagindas Khandwala College
Number of Participants	:	30
Activity	:	The KRC celebrated National Librarians' Day to commemorate the birth anniversary of Dr. S. R. Ranganathan, the renowned Indian librarian, mathematician, and father of library science in India. On this occasion, the Library invited the Vice Principal and IQAC Coordinator Prof. Dr. Mona Mehta and Vice Principal Dr. Priti Tripathi, faculty members, and students to pay tribute to Dr. S. R. Ranganathan. The programme commenced with the floral tribute and honouring of his photograph, remembering his invaluable contribution to the development of library science and the promotion of reading and learning in India. As part of the celebration, the Library also inaugurated the daily distribution of newspapers for students. The initiative aims to encourage students to develop a regular reading habit and remain informed about current affairs, national and international events, education, employment opportunities, and other developments. The newspapers will be made available to students every day in their classrooms. The programme highlighted the important role of libraries in fostering knowledge, awareness, lifelong learning, and intellectual development among students.
